Road tragedy. ASIRT investigating after collision kills senior, sends six-year officer to hospital

SHELLEY WILLIAMSON

The Alberta Serious Incident Response Team is investigating after an 84-year-old woman was killed Thursday in a crash with an unmarked

Edmonton Police Service car.

EPS chief Rod Knecht told reporters he'd asked ASIRT to take over the probe into the collision at 75 Street and 76 Avenue, which happened around 10:30 a.m.

"I am looking to meet with the family of the deceased as soon as possible so I can personally express my condolences," added Knecht.

Clifton Purvis of ASIRT said the EPS member, who was on surveillance detail in the southeast, was northbound on 75 Street and the woman had been going southbound.

The officer suffered serious, non-life threatening injuries.

Information from airbags will help provide more details, as will RCMP investigators, said Purvis.

"They are providing an expert collision analyst that will help us determine the speed of the vehicles and the cause of the collision," he explained.

Purvis said it's too early to tell if the officer was in pursuit of anyone.

Collective agreement

Deal reached in support-service worker dispute

An agreement between Alberta Health Services (AHS) and the Alberta Union of Provincial Employees was reached late Wednesday regarding a new collective agreement for general support service workers.

AHS said Thursday that details would be provided by March 13 once they are finalized.

The workers, who sterilize equipment, serve food, manage health records and more, staged a wildcat strike Feb. 16 starting at the Royal Alexandra Hospital, postponing nearly 70 surgeries. It spread to 40 other communities that same day.

The strike was a result of a rejected deal earlier this year. METRO

Verdict

Man convicted of 2nd-degree murder in LRT shooting

An Edmonton man who shot a woman at the Stadium LRT station during an altercation was convicted of second-degree murder on Thursday.

Colton Ferguson, 21, will be sentenced on March 16 for the May 21, 2010, killing of Heather Thurier, 23.

Court of Queen's Bench Justice Sterling Sanderman handed down the verdict, rejecting the Crown's desire for a first-degree murder verdict and the defence's for manslaughter.

Despite statements made by Thurier, the judge said there was no provocation and that the shot, made to Thurier's head, was an intentional discharge.

$2.3M in cocaine seized in crackdown

Big bust. Four arrested with more charges expected

Police have taken what they say is more than $2 million worth of cocaine off city streets, one of the largest busts in recent memory.

The EPS' Edmonton Drug and Gang Enforcement (EDGE) unit made the find March 1, after executing search warrants in three vehicles and two homes near 92 Avenue and 52 Street, police said Thursday.

Seized were 18 kilograms of cocaine, which police say sells wholesale for $810,000.

Dealt on the streets, that amount is upwards of $2.3 million, said police.

"In Edmonton, it's a large seizure. Is it our largest? No," said Insp. Ed McIsaac, of the EPS organized crime branch. "We had one in 2006 that was also 18 kilograms. But it does have a big effect on the community."

Drug paraphernalia, guns and ammunition, a 2009 Toyota RAV4, 2007 Dodge Nitro and a 2008 BMW 335xi were also nabbed.

"I can tell you we can measure this substance did not get to the streets. I can't tell you how much violence we've reduced, how much safer the community is," said McIsaac.

Two seized vehicles had been retrofitted.

In the Nitro, "sophisticat-

Pte. Chad Horn loved animals.

Even amidst the uncertainty and horror in Afghanistan, the Calgary native found comfort in caring for creatures smaller than him.

"He was always trading food with other soldiers," recalled Cpl. Wade Taylor, who served alongside Horn in the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry battle group. "We would sit by the gate of our forward operating base and animals would come by and we would feed them."

Stationed in the Zhari district of Afghanistan's often-volatile Kandahar province, Taylor and his comrades watched curiously as one particular cat took a liking to the daily feedings. She became known as Scuba Steve.

Horn took a particular liking to her. Back at home, his mother, Anita Bowes, knew little of his relationship with Scuba but was not surprised to find out later when going over his field notes. "Animals were such a huge part of who he was," she said.

Sadly, on their last patrol out of the Zhari base, Horn's group was ambushed by Taliban fighters. Less than two weeks away from returning home, he was killed along with Cpls. Andrew Grenon and Mike Seggie. Five others were wounded.

Ontario artist gives back to the families left behind

In the early-morning hours, it's not uncommon to find Sarah Blanche huddled over her artwork.

Pursuing a teaching degree by day, the Petawawa, Ont., resident spends her nights giving back to brave Canadian men and women who have lost lives in the line of duty.

"It's way for me to do my part," she explained. "I can't imagine what some of these families must go through."

Blanche's own husband completed one tour in Afghanistan in 2010. Luckily, he came home, but 158 others did not.

Inspired by their sacrifice, Blanche has now used her artistic talents to create 20 drawings for family members left behind.

Often, she chooses to model a more traditional image of a fallen soldier, depicting them in their traditional beret and perfectly maintained fatigues.

In the case of Pte. Chad Horn, however, she went with a much different image, but one that she said appears to suit her subject just fine. "I just thought it was such a unique image to have such a caring moment in the middle of a war," Blanche said.

She added in another personal touch as well, bordering the bottom of the piece with a slogan Horn had tattooed across the entire width of his back.

It reads, "For those I love I will sacrifice."

Temporary workers. Filipino community to mourn crash victims

Two men and two women killed in a highway crash near Innisfail have been identified.

RCMP said four people, all Filipino temporary workers living in Edmonton, died and another was sent to hospital just after 11 p.m. Sunday on Highway 2 when their vehicle collided with an SUV that was going the wrong way.

Anthony Subong Castillon and Joey Flores Mangonon, both 35, as well as Eden Dalu Biazon, 39, and Josefina Flores Velarde, 52, were deceased on scene, police said.

Josephine Gaila Tamondong, 28, survived but broke both legs and one arm.

Memorial and support

- Members of the Filipino community will host a service for the crash victims on Sunday at 6 p.m. at Hainstock's Funeral Home, 9810-34 Ave.
- Fundraising efforts are underway to ensure the four can be buried in the Philippines.

Tyler James Stevens, 29, of Cochrane, faces 14 impaired-driving related charges.

Edmonton police have identified the city's second homicide victim of the year.

Billy Canh Ho, 25, died from a stab wound, police said Thursday.

Officers were called to the McDonald's parking lot at Calgary Trail and 51 Street about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday, where they found the fatally injured man.

"We have no idea if this was a random act, if this was not a random act," said Scott Pattison, EPS spokesperson.

between 2 a.m. and 4:30 a.m.

"Admittedly it's a really wide area that we're seeking help from people, but because again the investigation is very preliminary at this time, the amount of information that's being shared with the public is limited," said Pattison.

He did not say how the evidence applies to the investigation, but said detectives believe people buying gas in this manner and time frame may be few.

It has not been confirmed whether Ho entered the restaurant at any time after the attack.

Third jerseys are notoriously different in sports, and the Edmonton Rush lacrosse team is taking that to a whole new level this weekend.

The team will use the Rush players' Twitter handles as their nameplates when they take on the Calgary Roughnecks.

"We're in the social media world now, and we thought it would be a great way for our fans to connect with our players," said team president Gord Sawyer. "A lot of our players do not live in town. They fly in for games."

While a lacrosse team in Philadelphia has done it before, the Rush will be the first professional sports team in Canada to use Twitter handles in place of last names on their jerseys.

"It's kind of a fun, dynamic," said Sawyer. "We have a young demographic."

The Rush take on the Roughnecks at Rexall Place on Friday and again in Calgary on Saturday, both of which will be aired on Sportsnet.

Sawyer said the team will likely wear the jerseys both nights.

He is encouraging fans to come out not only to support the team, but for the Greater Edmonton Lacrosse Council.

SKILLS FOR SUCCESS

El Salvador is a tiny country – less than half the size of Nova Scotia, with a population about the size of the GTA – but it is one of the most dangerous countries in the Western hemisphere. There were 3,985 violent deaths in El Salvador in 2010, most related to gang activity; that is a higher per-capita number than in Afghanistan.

That's why communities place a high priority on giving their young people tools to build a future. "Our preschool centres are critically important," says Laura Mata, chief of communications for World Vision El Salvador, which works with community groups to create programs to address their most pressing needs. "By giving small children a good educational foundation, they're ready for Grade 1. They're then more likely to be successful and less likely to flunk out or quit later."

World Vision's Children's Clubs and Youth Clubs not only provide young people with a safe place to socialize, but also give them life skills and vocational training. (In one club, Kevin, 15 was learning to bake bread and fancy pastries; in another, a band of musicians practiced while another group took learned to paint.)

Carlos, who is now 17, remembers the first time he went to a World Vision Communications Club in Tacuba, a small mountain town near the Guatemalan border where local gangs are particularly powerful. "I was 13. Some of my friends had been to the club and done a radio show, and they needed more people. I went. I was very nervous. But it was such a nice experience my [nervousness] vanished."

Before that, Carlos had been playing hookey from school since age 10, had failed 4th grade and fallen in with a sketchy group. At the club, "I got really involved. I realized I had to stop doing the things I'd been doing. I started studying again." Today he leads other teens in the group and works half-days at a local professional radio station while attending high school.

Of course World Vision Canada sponsorships support efforts like nutrition and health care programs in El Salvador. But Laura believes that is just as important to "improve knowledge. You can't change lives by just giving tangible things," she says. "Change comes by giving life skills and vocational skills so that [young people] can be someone in the future."

At the Tacuba Communications Club, says Carlos, "getting into the radio shows is what changed my life."

Kony website has raised more than $5M

Controversy. Video creator defends project on Toronto radio show

Viral video

26.6M

The video, which was posted on Monday, stood at 26.6 million views by Thursday morning.

Jason Russell, director of the viral Kony 2012 video, responded to criticism of his humanitarian group, Invisible Children, on Thursday. He called in to the Roz and Mocha show on KiSS 92.5 FM.

So what's the last 48 hours been like?

Man, we haven't really slept.... The world's waking up to their potential.

When did you post this online? It now stands at 26.6 million views.

We posted this on Monday at noon ... and by that night it had 60,000 views and we were freaking out.

Anytime anyone asked me to put this on Facebook or re-tweet it, I had one question: why?

(People) don't know how to stop child soldiering ... but now things are changing because of technology.... This is about Kony, the world's worst criminal.... It would be an injustice if he actually was captured and nobody knew about it.

You have been criticized for your organization's finances and not having Africans on your board. What can somebody who buys a (sticker) on your website actually do to help?

I mean, putting up the sticker actually does help it because it awakens the consciousness of this world.

(Have any celebrities) responded to you?

Oprah Winfrey ... was the first one to tweet it out ... (and to) support us financially.... And then came more, Taylor Swift, Ryan Seacrest.... Justin Bieber just started tweeting about it.

How much money have you guys made off the website in the last 48 hours?

Over $5 million.

More demonstrations

Student hurt in eye during Que. tuition protests

A student demonstrator feared losing sight in one eye Thursday, feeding an atmosphere of heightened tensions over Quebec's tuition-fee hikes.

There were more protests one day after 20-year-old protester Francis Grenier suffered a partially detached retina following the explosion of a police stun grenade during a demonstration Wednesday in downtown Montreal.

Some students taunted police by wearing eye-patches in reference to Grenier. There were also chants and a variety of hand gestures, ranging from two-fingered peace signs to one-fingered salutes.

"Police is everywhere, justice is nowhere," some chanted.

A day earlier, seven people were arrested during a pair of Montreal protests — the latest in a string of demonstrations by students who believe Quebec's rock-bottom tuition rates are a basic right. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Scandal. Bureaucrat used public funds for massages, TVs: Watchdog

A federal public servant charged massages as office supplies, put in for bogus expenses, took home flat-screen TVs paid for with office funds and used a government car as a personal vehicle, all while bullying and browbeating underlings.

These are among the findings of a damning report tabled Thursday by Public Sector Integrity Commissioner Mario Dion.

The case involves a western regional manager in Human Resources and Skills Development who is not otherwise identified.

Dion said lax policies allowed the manager to divert government equipment to a personal business, claim phoney expenses and cut sweetheart deals for family and friends, while terrorizing staff.

The manager also ignored rules about confidentiality and disclosed personal information about employees to other members of staff. As well, the manager used the passwords and access codes of employees who worked

Corruption

The manager, who had been in the job for nine years, left the government during Dion's 2010 investigation, although the report doesn't say whether the bureaucrat was fired or quit.

- The department says it has tightened its procedures to keep closer track of spending and better monitor its staff. And it has recovered the TVs and other goodies the manager took home.

in different offices to make financial entries without their knowledge or consent. "I have determined that the breadth, severity and frequency of the manager's wrongdoing constitute gross mismanagement in the public sector," Dion said in a release.

The mess was uncovered after frightened public servants complained to Dion's office in February 2010.

Aung San Suu Kyi's steely resolve

Aung San Suu Kyi used Thursday's visit of Foreign Affairs Minister John Baird to fire another round in her long fight for freedom — she warned of voter fraud threatening Myanmar's coming landmark elections.

With a steely resolve, the celebrated Nobel laureate warned that bogus voters' lists are threatening her country's tough road to democratic freedom. Baird, latest in a long line of international visitors, readily agreed.

The revelation added gravity to Baird's historic visit to Myanmar, also known as Burma, where he personally conferred honorary Canadian citizenship on Suu Kyi.

Emerging from nearly an hour of talks at her lakeside Yangon residence, a place where she has served 15 of the last 23 years under arrest, Suu Kyi disclosed the new threat to her historic campaign.

Concerns divide families

Earlier this year Robert Knoth, a Dutch photographer, travelled to Fukushima to document residents' everyday lives.

"Even outside the exclusion zone, there are lots of empty villages," he says. "There are only a few people there who don't want to leave. Many have lived there for generations."

And the accident caused rifts in local families. "Young people didn't believe the government's claims that it was safe to stay," explains Knoth.

"They wanted to leave, but that caused conflicts because Japanese families act collectively."

Kenta Sato, a young Tweeter who worked for his father's company, quit his job and moved to Fukushima City. Now he lives on his savings, with no job prospects in sight.

A year after disaster, Japan still struggles

Fukushima. Somehow, life goes on in the shadow of shattered nuclear reactors

ELISABETH BRAW
Metro World News

One year ago, an earthquake struck the waters off Fukushima, a quiet city in central Japan. The 8.9 tremor caused a tsunami, which hit the city's nuclear power plant. Within minutes, three of the plant's reactors overheated and released clouds of radioactivity.

"I was at home on my farm," recalls Tatsuko Ogawara, an organic farmer who lives 40 kilometres from the reactor. "A geiger counter we bought 26 years ago showed radiation levels 30 times higher than normal. When this happened, I wanted to evacuate to western Japan with my children.

Health concerns

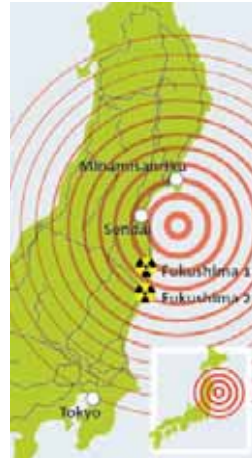

Tatsuko Ogawara
Organic farmer

"The radiation levels of our crops are a big problem now."

However, I respected the decision our children made and decided to remain in our home."

One year later, Ogawara remains at her family farm — but the Fukushima region has changed. The 20-kilometre exclusion zone around the plant is a Chernobyl-like landscape inhabited only by animals.

"And a 13,000 square kilometre area is still contaminated above the international limit," says Jan Beranek, a nuclear expert at Greenpeace, who has measured the area's radioactivity.

The effects of the earthquake, tsunami and accident reached Tokyo.

"It will take three decades before the radioactive isotopes are broken down. Until then, the Fukushima region is a ticking time bomb. The contaminated water is especially dangerous, since it could leak and contaminate reservoirs."

For Ogawara, the radioactivity is a constant concern: "We have lost many customers due to radiation fears. And I'm very worried about the health of my children."

The Ogawaras' oldest daughter has already left Fukushima.

In fact, while authorities and TEPCO, the nuclear plant's operator, quickly repaired the broken reactors, surprisingly little attention has been paid to the health of the area's residents.

Says Ogawara: "Decontamination has become a business and there is big money moving around, but this money isn't going into the community, it is going into big business."

TEPCO could not be reached for comment.

But Fukushima has changed Japan. The government plans to phase out the country's nuclear reactors.

May 19 to her part in Tori's murder, police held out hope Tori was alive somewhere.

"The investigation went from an abduction investigation to a homicide investigation," Det. Const. Sean Kelly Kelly choked up and had difficulty speaking, pausing to blink away tears.

"I'm good," he said eventually. "We'll continue."

"We did the best that we could," he said.

Kelly was the last witness to testify this week at the trial of McClintic's boyfriend Michael Rafferty, 31.

Halifax. 'Czech bride' radio contest draws protesters to station

"Women cannot be won."

That's the message protesters were chanting outside Q104's headquarters Thursday in response to the radio station's controversial The Male is in the Czech contest.

About 30 people, both men and women, protested under the watchful eyes of Q104 employees, who looked down upon the protest from the top floor windows of their office on Kempt Road.

"Czech your privilege," "My gender is not a currency," and "End your show" were just a few of the signs that protesters waved around a small patch of grass at intersection at Kempt and Lady Hammond Roads.

The station's contest —

dubbed on the Q website as a "mail-order bride" giveaway — closed Thursday, which also happened to be International Women's Day.

Winners of the contest will fly to Prague, Czech Republic, where they will participate in four pre-planned dates through the Flying Hearts International Dating Service, which according to its website, gives men the opportunity to "meet many beautiful, educated and devoted Czech and Eastern European women ... for friendship, long-term relationship and marriage."

Derrick Dixon, an organizer of the protest, said the contest is sexist and wants the station to cancel it.

But the station isn't making any apologies. J.C. Douglas, Q104's program director, said "while we welcome the publicity," he doesn't understand why the station is being associated with and sex trafficking.

"There's a difference between sexy and sexism," said Douglas.

"The responses I've had from people in the Czech Republic... They seem perplexed at the attitude in Canada that the Czech Republic is some third world nation where they can't even have a reputable online dating service without it being connected to this grimy underworld."

Raitt steps in to halt Air Canada stoppage

Labour dispute.

Minister urges both sides to return to the bargaining table despite intervention

Federal Labour Minister Lisa Raitt stepped in Thursday to prevent a work stoppage at Air Canada that would have thrown the travel plans of thousands of families into chaos at the beginning of a holiday week.

"Our government's concerned that the work stoppages are going to have an effect both on our national economy and of course on the Canadian travelling public," the minister said.

"We all know that it's March break, especially in Quebec, in Ontario and the following week after in British Columbia. And we know this can have an effect on Canadian families, especially since this is a really peak travel season."

Raitt sent the dispute between the airline and two of its unions — the pilots and ground crew — to the Canadian Industrial Relations Board to see how a work stoppage would affect the health and safety of Canadians.

"It is still a valid question to me, especially when it comes to passengers and cargo and that's exactly why we're going to be sending it over to the CIRB," Raitt said Thursday.

While the board reviews the case, the airline cannot lock out its employees and the unions cannot start a strike.

It is the same manoeuvre that Raitt used when it appeared Air Canada's flight attendants would go on strike last year, but the CIRB never made a decision on that matter.

Air Canada confirmed that there would be no disruption of service and its full schedule would remain unchanged.

Canada's largest airline had threatened earlier Thursday to lock its pilots out on Monday after they rejected the airline's latest contract offer, while the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, which represents ground crew and mechanics, had set a strike deadline on the same day.

The pilots union and the machinists are the last two unions with which Air Canada needs to reach an agreement.

Air Canada's employees have been trying to win back pay and concessions they gave up to help the airline restructure under bankruptcy protection in 2003 and 2004.

The Air Canada Pilots Association has said it has been flying under an expired 2009 agreement that froze their pay for more than two years and gave the airline hundreds of millions of dollars in relief from its pension funding obligations.

Raitt urged both sides to negotiate a deal or submit to a binding process to settle their disputes and avoid a work stoppage.

The pilots union has said it will put the airline's latest offer to a vote, but urged its members to reject the proposed agreement.

Meanwhile, the machinists union has said its main issues are wages and a sizable pension deficit, which Air Canada has not dealt with, despite the sale of $2 billion in assets.

Pakistan seeks censorship

Blocked websites.
Country advertising for Internet filtering systems

Pakistan is looking for companies to install a system that could block up to 50 million web addresses, alarming free speech activists who fear current censorship could become much more widespread.

Internet access for Pakistan's some 20 million Web users is less restricted than in many countries in Asia and the Arab world, though some pornographic sites and those seen as insulting to Islam are blocked.

Others related to separatist activities or army criticism have also been, or continue to be, censored.

Few nations have so publicly revealed their plans to censor the web as Pakistan is doing, however.

The government doesn't currently list the sites it has blocked, or their number, or say who sits on the committee that decides what pages to shut down.

Big catch. Salmon fishing season looks promising

Pacific Coast fishermen can start gearing up for what's expected to be the best salmon fishing season in years.

Federal fishery managers are forecasting robust populations of chinook and coho salmon off the Pacific coast and in California and Oregon rivers.

The Pacific Fishery Management Council on Wednesday approved several options for managing West Coast salmon fisheries this year. All of them give sport and commercial anglers plenty of time to fish later this spring and summer.

The regulatory council plans to hold public hearings in California, Oregon and Washington to get feedback on the alternative fishing plans over the next few weeks before choosing a final plan.

"It is great to see such a nice rebound for California salmon populations and the prospect of good fishing in 2012," council chairman Dan Wolford, said in a statement.

Under the approved options, recreational salmon fishing could begin as early as mid-March in southern Oregon and April in California and run through the fall.

Commercial fishing could start as early as April 1 and run through September.

In 2008 and 2009, poor salmon returns led to the largest fishery closures on record. Salmon populations rebounded in 2010 and 2011, allowing for limited sport and commercial fishing.

Banks wrestle for housing market

The competition by the big Canadian banks to grab a bigger share of the home mortgage market is heating up again.

TD Bank says it will again offer a special four-year mortgage charging 2.99 per cent interest per year, effective Mar. 9. WOMEN'S DAY, RUSH LIMBAUGH AND AN EXPLETIVE

THE LIST
Paul Sullivan
Metro

It's that time of the week again, when we roll out our list of the most amazing things happening. No use arguing ... the decision of the judges is final.

1 International Women's Day: You've still got a long way to go, baby. Only 17 per cent of the corporate officers and 13 per cent of the directors in Canada's top 500 companies are women. That's because the men have done such a good job.

2 The Abyss 2: James Cameron, director of Avatar, Titanic and The Abyss, announced that he's building a special submarine to descend to the bottom of the sea. The Marianas Trench, to be precise, is the deepest point in the ocean, where the pressure is 1,000 times greater than on the surface. The difference from his last visit to the abyss: This time, if the sub starts to leak, he can't just yell "cut!"

3 iPad X: OK, so it doesn't deliver world peace. The Apple iPad released Wednesday does have a better screen, a better battery, better graphics and a better camera, and some people are still disappointed because it's not called iPad 3 or doesn't make toast. Geeks gone wild.

4 Rush Limbaugh, you ignorant slut: If the sponsors and affiliates leaping off the bandwagon are any indication, America's foremost big-mouth may have finally gone too far when he called a U.S. law student testifying before Congress a "slut" and a "prostitute," because she thinks it's a good idea for health care to pay for birth control. Sometimes the trouble with free speech is that you get what you pay for.

5 Super Tuesday: How many Republican presidential candidates does it take to screw in a light bulb?

Anybody but Mitt Romney, apparently. Finding a Republican to give Barry Obama a run for his money takes even longer than the NHL playoffs. If we're lucky, Newt

Mitt Romney. GETTY IMAGES

Gingrich and Don Cherry will both still be around in June.

6 Just in time for spring break: Air Canada's machinist union is either going to strike or the airline will lock them out. Oh, all those vacations we ruined? Too bad, so sad. Your flight is cancelled. Please call our helpless desk and we'll continue to ignore you as usual as we experience temporary labour difficulties.

7 Bieber Watch: Justin Bieber and I both have a birthday in the first week of March. To celebrate, he bought himself a $10-million Hollywood mansion, only slightly used by Ashton Kutcher. I bought myself a latte. It went down smooth. Even though he's now a man, he still has the voice of a boy. I wonder if that's why he called his signature fragrance "Someday."

Solar storm could flex its muscles yet

Lucky planet

Storm gets off to benign start

One of the strongest solar storms in years engulfed Earth early Thursday, but scientists say the planet may have lucked out.

Hours after the storm arrived, officials said there were no reports of problems with power grids, satellites or other technologies that are often disrupted by solar storms. But that could still change. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Disruptions

- The storm is part of the sun's normal 11-year cycle, which is supposed to reach a peak next year. Solar storms don't harm people, but they do disrupt technology. During the last peak around 2002, experts learned that GPS was vulnerable to solar outbursts.
- Because new technology has flourished since then, scientists could discover some new systems are also at risk, said the director of the Center for Integrated Space Weather Modeling at Boston University.

Auroras

Earth dealt a good solar storm, this year

The storm could shake the planet's magnetic field in ways that could disrupt technology but also spread colourful Northern Lights.

Forecasters can predict the speed a solar storm travels and its strength, but the north-south orientation is the wild card. And this time, Earth got dealt a good card with a northern orientation.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scientist says

"It could flip-flop and we could end up with the strength of the storm still to come."

What did you think?

Mark: The movie isn't funny, period.

It has a lead foot and a tin ear. It felt like a middle period Jim Carrey movie like Liar, Liar or Yes Man, in which the main character has a supernaturally imposed rule that the comic has to follow that leads to some kind of enlightenment or personal growth.

Murphy's imposed silence in the movie robs him of his greatest gift — the gift of gab. So all he can do is pop his eyeballs and mime his lines. But, Richard, if the movie is this bad, why did it hold my interest?

RC: It didn't hold mine, but I would guess that you were responding to Murphy's charisma.

Even in terrible movies it's hard to take your eyes off him.

Although I have to say that I found this such an unpleasant movie-going experience that the loud fire alarm that rang intermittently in the theatre during the film was a welcome relief to what was happening on screen.

At least the fire alarm had some element of urgency to it, unlike the film, which seemed to think that allowing Murphy to pull faces at the camera for 90 minutes was enough to flesh out the story.

MB: Maybe it was just relief that he didn't wear the fat suit, or the glossy art direction, or the satirical pokes at pop spirituality.

It has one good scene, where he "speaks" by using the prerecorded voice in various kids' toys.

But the abrupt turn of mood in the last third of the movie, changing from tepid comedy to outright mawkish sentimentalism made me squirm — big time.

Sorry, but I don't need a lesson in family values from a guy whose track record on Hollywood Boulevard speaks for itself.

RC: Ha!

Synopsis

Teaming up with Norbet director Brian Robins again, Eddie Murphy plays Jack McCall, a fast talking literary agent who double-crosses new age guru Dr. Sinja (Cliff Curtis) on a book deal. Soon after, a magical Bodhi tree erupts through the ground in Jack's backyard. The tree will shed one leaf for every word McCall says, and after one thousand leaves have fallen, the true nature of the tree's curse will be revealed.

No more Mr. Nice Guy

Comedy. Affable Jason Segel, star of Jeff, Who Lives at Home, dishes on the things he dislikes — and cats are on his hit list

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

Jason Segel has cemented his reputation as Hollywood's reigning Nice Guy, and with his latest film, Jeff, Who Lives at Home, he takes that image even further, playing an unyieldingly optimistic loser living in his mother's basement who sees the good in everyone.

But there has to be something that makes Segel angry. As it turns out, he's not such a big fan of cats.

Your character in this is remarkably positive and open to life.

Yeah, he's a special guy. He's a watcher, and he's taking things in. He really does have an undaunted confidence that there is a purpose to his life, and that's a pretty courageous thing to believe. I think ultimately he doesn't know how to make sense of a terrible tragedy — his father died when he was young, and he just believes that there must be some reason for that.

In less careful hands, these could be pretty laughable, demeaned characters.

I think the goal was to have the tone of life. We weren't trying for broad comedy, we weren't trying for dark comedy, we were just trying for honesty. And the Duplass Brothers demand honesty, and that's what made me want to work with them. They roll the camera and

On The Muppets

It's been announced that a Muppets sequel is in the works. But this project won't involve Jason Segel.

- "I worked very hard on this for half a decade. I just wanted a little Muppet break for a minute. Someday I may come back and do something, but I felt like I did what I set out to do, and now I'd like to do some more human-related projects," says Segel.

As for the fact that The Muppets received no Golden Globe nominations and only two best song nominations at the Oscars, Segel has this to say: "We're living in Cuckoosville, and I'm very lucky to be successful, but it's not the kind of stuff I get worked up about. As I've gotten older, the things I care about have really narrowed, and it's like my friends and my family. It's not awards season."

they point it at you, and they don't say much. They'll let it roll for 40 minutes, and what sort of clicks in your mind is, "Well, I guess I'm supposed to do acting right now. They're not going to say cut. I claim to be an actor, I better do it."

We've never really seen you get pissed off about anything, but there must be something that pisses you off.

Yeah. When someone's rude to service staff, I get furious. That could just as easily be you. Who the f— are you to tell a waiter to hurry up? I hate it. That's my big one.

If you didn't have an answer,

I was going to ask you to say awful things about kittens.

Anyone who would say, "I don't have anything [that I hate]" is a liar. I am not a big fan of cats. I'm going to be controversial. I think they're entitled little bastards. You come home and a dog greets you at the door and is so happy to see you. A cat is just laying on your bed, has just done nothing all day, like, "Oh, hello..."

You have nearly 1 million Twitter followers. How do you wrap your mind around that?

I never say anything political or controversial. I tweet about food or me in a funny outfit. I think it's remarkable you say something like, "Sandwiches are better than burritos" and hundreds of thousands of people have an opinion; like they're ready to fight for it. "You don't like burritos? F— you!" I think it's hilarious.

Quoted

"What we did was we shot the end of the film first, when everything was messed up and destroyed and mucky..."

"Then we shot some interiors and we went to a couple of other locations while this poor production team, who were on their knees by the end of it — after rebuilding a set three times that had been previously flooded — they built it in two days and we were able to shoot the rest of the film. It was nuts."

Emily Blunt, actress
Blunt on shooting Salmon Fishing in the Yarnies during a relentless deluge in the highlands of Morocco's Atlas mountains washed out the set three times.

The Hunger Games screenwriter talks about appeasing fans

Action. Simon Beaufoy feels the pressure of adapting a bestselling series of books into what could be a major movie franchise

Metro World News in Hollywood

While the release of The Hunger Games is still more than two weeks away, Academy Award-winning screenwriter Simon Beaufoy is already hard at work on the followup. In fact, he tells Metro, he's just turned in the first draft of his adaptation of Catching Fire to novelist and series creator Suzanne Collins. That's got to make a guy a little nervous.

"I think she's reading it possibly right now, the first draft. Could well be today," he says of Collins, whose own background has been helpful in the scripting process.

"Because Suzanne has been a film writer and a TV writer, funnily enough she's already done a lot of adapting for me. They'll cut my wage if you say that."

Beaufoy is no stranger to adaptation, with the Oscar-winning Slumdog Millionaire, 127 Hours and the upcoming Salmon Fishing in the Yemen among his credits.

But taking on an installment of the hugely successful Hunger Games series was still daunting.

"With this one, I had to be a lot more faithful also because there's a fan base who are more than usually keen that you get it absolutely right," he says.

"The Hunger Games' fan base are passionate beyond anything I've ever come across, and I would fear for my life [if I get it wrong]. If I do too free an adaptation of that, I shall get firebombed. So I'm being very careful of that."

Of course, not everything from a book can make it into a movie, so not every bit of Catching Fire will make it to the screen, which Beaufoy freely admits.

But he's cagey when it comes to details. "[Collins] just knows her audience brilliantly, and she'll say 'That bit you just can't cut out because they'll all go crazy.' And other bits she'll go, 'This is fine that you've changed this,'" Beaufoy explains.

"But she really knows her readers. And because she's been in the film world, she understands about adapting, that things have to go and things have to change."

He only has 1000 words left to discover what matters most.

Horror

Silent House

Directors. Chris Kentis, Laura Lau

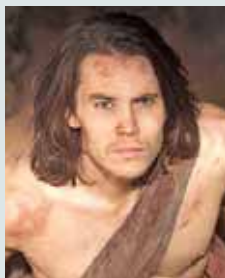

Stars. Elizabeth Olsen, Adam Trese, Eric Sheffer Stevens

It's an interesting idea, you have to give it that. Based on the Uruguayan film La Casa Muda, Silent House follows a moody young woman (Elizabeth Olsen) as she's haunted and terrorized in a country house she, her father and her uncle are renovating before selling. And when I say "follows," I mean it literally: Silent House is presented in real time, as one continuous take, which can be interesting except for those moments when Olsen has to wait while the cameraman gets out of her way on the stairs.

The film uses its main device to good effect in for the first half of its 88-minute running time, but as the tension continues to ratchet up and clues about what exactly the hell is going on here emerge, the whole thing starts to unravel.

Action

John Carter

Director. Andrew Stanton

Stars. Taylor Kitsch, Lynn Collins, Willem Dafoe, Samantha Morton

It turns out there is life on Mars — and John Carter aims to save it.

Based on the novels by Edgar Rice Burroughs, the film follows Carter (Canada's own Taylor Kitsch), a former American Civil War captain who now spends his days searching for gold. But when Carter happens upon a special medallion that transports him to Barsoom (the planet we Earthlings call Mars), Carter is forced to fight again. On Barsoom, Carter discovers he can jump vast distances — a trick that interests the Tharks, the native inhabitants of the planet who take Carter prisoner. After escaping, Carter tries to make his way home but finds himself drawn into the fight for the future of Barsoom.

There are some impressive graphics, but the film lacks a coherent storyline, runs about 30 minutes too long and, despite the epic battle scenes, fails to capture your attention.

REGAN REID

Drama

Coriolanus

Director. Ralph Fiennes

Stars. Ralph Fiennes, Gerard Butler, Brian Cox

Ralph Fiennes' ferocious adaptation of one of Shakespeare's least-known plays has been calibrated for present-tense relevance: the director casts himself as the resentful, battle-scarred general of a war-torn nation battling media spin and the machinations of duplicitous politicians.

Expert support from Jessica Chastain, Vanessa Redgrave and, surprisingly, Gerard Butler — as Fiennes' equally combat-savvy nemesis — gives the film dramatic heft to balance its scattered action flick moves.

Bully slapped with 'R' rating

Documentary. Filmmaker upset that movie may not be accessible to the crowd it aims to educate; petition sent to MPAA

Lee Hirsch had a violent, nightmare middle school experience. Every day multiple students would punch him to the point where his arms were no longer black and blue — they were just plain yellow.

"I had a really hard time communicating the urgency (for help)," he says, looking back on the experience. "It was very difficult and painful. I couldn't find an adult or my parents who were willing to help me make it stop."

He's grown up, but Hirsch, a successful Sundance and Emmy-award winning director, is revisiting those painful days once more. In his new documentary Bully follows the stories of five children and their families, showing how bullying has affected their lives.

But, even though it was intended to be an educational tool, Bully is garnering controversy. After being submitted to the MPAA, the governing body that issues American Film Ratings, the board decided to slap the film with an R-rating because the obscene language was used multiple times. This means anyone under 17, the vast majority of the people who Hirsch hopes to affect with this film, will need an adult to come with them to see the film. "I was surprised and devastated," Hirsch said. "This is a film that has been vetted by multiple educational organizations... This film was not designed to be an R-Rated movie, and to have it rated R is clearly an obstacle."

Though the MPAA has rejected the appeal to have the R-rating overturned, over 200,000 people have signed an online petition to change the rating started by a person who was bullied as a teen.

Becoming Sarah Palin

TV movie. To step into the hockey jersey of the 2008 vice presidential candidate in the HBO film Game Change, actress Julianne Moore's homework included voice lessons and watching reality TV

AMBER RAY

Metro World News in New York

Game Change, the bestselling account of the 2008 presidential election by Mark Halperin and John Heilemann, only dedicates a portion of its chapters to John McCain's selection of Sarah Palin as his running mate.

But that polarizing moment is the focus of the HBO film Game Change, which stars Ed Harris as McCain, Woody Harrelson as his campaign strategist Steve Schmidt, and Julianne Moore as their "star" — the then-relatively unknown but charismatic Palin.

Moore captures the likeness of the former Alaska governor with uncanny precision — without devolving into a Saturday Night Live parody.

"It's a daunting task to play somebody who is not only a living figure, but a hugely well-known one," Moore says. "So, for me, the most important thing was accuracy."

Momma bear moment

"I chased down an ice skating coach once because they messed up the music to my daughter's program."

Julianne Moore on her own Sarah Palin-like "momma bear" moment

The actress put a "tremendous amount of research" into understanding America's most famous hockey mom, including, she says, reading "everything I could get my hands on."

At the top of her list was Palin's memoir, Going Rogue: An American Life, as well as Blind Allegiance to Sarah Palin: A Memoir of Our Tumultuous Years by Palin aide Frank Bailey, and, of course, Game Change.

Moore also watched hours of footage of Palin on the campaign trail, and even had video on hand while filming scenes to nail the candidate's physicality.

"We would sometimes have the computer there when I was doing the debates to watch things very precisely, like beat by beat, to get the gesture just right," Moore explains.

But the first thing the actress did was hire a vocal coach.

"(Palin) has an incredibly idiosyncratic way of speaking," Moore says, "and I really felt I needed to capture that. We are all very familiar with her and with those sort of iconic moments. I mean, it was just four years ago."

Game Change, starring Ed Harris and Julianne Moore, premieres Saturday at 9 p.m. ET on HBO. PHILLIP V. CARUSO

Studying Palin

"One of the things that I watched was her reality show, Sarah Palin's Alaska, to kind of familiarize myself with the family and with her family dynamic. And, you know, that was, frankly, adorable. I mean, she's really a very caring, very involved parent."

Sound Check

What Apple should do now

SOUND CHECK
Alan Cross
scene@metronews.ca

Dear Tim Cook:

As the guy entrusted with guiding Apple after Steve's ascent to an insanely greater plane of existence, I sympathize with the burden on your shoulders. What can you do to keep Apple on this upward trajectory? If I may make a suggestion, I have an idea about music in my car.

Having looked virtually at all the new in-dash infotainment systems, I've come to the conclusion that none of them are as good as they should be.

Yes, things have improved over the last couple of years, but there's still a lot of work to be done.

Every time I plug my iPhone into my car, I'm frustrated that the display in my dash doesn't look or operate anything like the display on my phone. I can browse for songs and playlists but there's nothing in the interface that allows me to find audio books or podcasts.

There's voice control, but compared to what Siri can do, it sucks. There's nothing that reads incoming texts to me. Nothing in my iPhone interfaces with the brains of the car, either, Tim. The trip computer doesn't talk to the phone and the two GPS systems might as well be operating on different planets.

In other words, just like the old days of the personal computer. Remember the mess in the '80s? DOS. Windows. Mac. BeOS. Commodore. Amiga. It was an OS nightmare with each system requiring its own learning curve. It wasn't until we settled down into a standardized world — mostly Windows, of course — that the masses began to get comfortable with computers.

This is the chaos we see in cars today. Ford's SYNC, Kia's UVO and Entune from Toyota are all based on a Microsoft platform called Windows CE-based Windows Automotive Embedded System 7 — but all look and work differently. Others are working with QNX, a company owned by Research In Motion. None look like the other.

What we need, Tim, is a good ol' Window vs. Mac battle in the car. Better user interfaces. Standard communications protocols. More than 20 per cent of smartphone users already plug their devices into their dashboards and that rate of adoption is skyrocketing. Talk about a market waiting to be exploited!

But what's this about you starting to hire automotive engineers? That's the rumour, anyway. Could it be you've already thought this through?

Your friend, Alan

Estelle is making it in America.

Estelle left the U.K. to find success. Now that she's here though, she's making the most of her success in the spotlight

Estelle said she left the United Kingdom to pursue her career in America because performing R&B music back home was too tough.

"It's so (expletive) hard for British artists to be taken seriously as R&B artists," she said.

"It's frustrating," continued Estelle, who now lives in the United States. "I get a lot of (people saying), 'Yo Estelle, I can't sing R&B and be out here and make money. This is crazy.' And I'm looking at them like, 'I know. That's why I'm not there doing it.'"

Estelle's sound is a mix of rap, R&B, reggae and pop. She says British R&B singers have trouble performing R&B "because No. 1, you're not American."

But R&B music in Europe isn't quite the same as in America. Europe's R&B charts will feature pop acts like Jason Derulo and Flo Rida, whose songs don't appear on the U.S. R&B chart.

"The kids in the (U.K.) hood still know what R&B music is. They still know what real (R&B) is," she said.

Estelle released her debut, The 18th Day, in Europe in 2004, but she made her real splash on the music scene in 2008 with the monster hit American Boy, which won her a Grammy Award. The song featured Kanye West and is from her U.S. debut, "Shine," released on John Legend's label imprint, Home School Records.

Finding commercial fame

Pop trio fun finding success. Super Bowl ad and hitmaker Jeff Bhasker credited with putting them over Jeff Bhasker, the hitmaker behind acts like Kanye West, Beyoncé, Alicia Keys and Jay-Z, had only been interested in producing for seasoned acts.

So when he was approached by pop-rock trio fun. to produce its sophomore album, there was little excitement.

"I figured I'd just meet with them for 15 minutes and then I don't have to hear them bugging me anymore," admitted Bhasker, who had cancelled two previous meetings with the group.

Then he heard lead singer Nate Ruess — who was admittedly "liquored up" — belt out the lyrics from the group's song We Are Young. Bhasker was so impressed he immediately booked studio time to record the band's next album, and now We Are Young has become the group's breakout hit.

"I was really excited about working with Beyoncé ... (but working) with this indie band from Brooklyn turned out to be equally as exciting," Bhasker said.

Bhasker is not the only one excited about the band or its song, which has already reached the No. 3 spot on the Billboard Hot 100 chart.

We Are Young initially got a boost thanks to its cover on Fox's Glee, but its use in a Super Bowl commercial for the new Chevrolet Sonic helped it top the iTunes singles chart, and in a week it jumped 38 spots on the Billboard board chart.

"What happened with the Super Bowl ad has been the theme for us recently," said guitarist Jack Antonoff.

70,000 units, according to Nielsen SoundScan.

That's a far stretch from the group's debut Aim and Ignite, which peaked at No. 71 and has only sold 74,000 copies since its release in 2009.

Fun. is now on a North American tour that wraps up June 16 in New York City.

THESE HOMES ARE A REALLY BIG DEAL

To us, going big and going home are one in the same. We offer the whole package — exceptionally designed homes from the '270's, up to 1700 sq. ft. We also include a front landscaped yard, 2 or 3 bedroom options, and a private rear parking pad or front attached garage.

And as always, no condo fees or restrictions.

Now in 3 of Edmonton's best communities: Chappelle Gardens, Lake Summerside and The Orchards.

Country music

Hayes gives credit to Canadian

Hunter Hayes was nervous before his first songwriting session with Canadian Gordie Sampson, but not because of Sampson's Grammy-certified pedigree or because Hayes had just recently become an ardent fan of his music.

No, Hayes was anxious because he simply didn't have any good ideas. Sure, the 20-year-old had a couple of musical concepts kicking around in his head — not uncommon considering the multitasking youngster played all 30 instruments on his major-label debut — but he had nothing lyrical, and nothing that could supply the bedrock of a new hit.

"I like to walk in with something, an idea, something I've got going on. But that day, I was just fresh out," Hayes recalled in an interview this week in Toronto.

"So I was really hoping somebody else would come to the table. And Gordie did."

Indeed, the Big Pond, N.S., songwriter — best-known for penning the Carrie Underwood smash Jesus, Take the Wheel — delivered, bringing Hayes the early career-defining hit he needed in the form of the buoyant country-pop ditty Storm Warning, co-written with hit-maker Michael Busbee.

And thus began Hayes' — ahem — whirlwind year.

The tune took its time snaking up the charts, seeing release last May but only reaching its peak in January. In between, Hayes opened for cross-over country starlet Taylor Swift on a summer arena tour, launched his first solo trek, and introduced enough people to tunes from his solo record that it easily found its way to the U.S. Top 20 upon its October release. He's since earned a best new artist nomination at the Academy of Country Music Awards.

'I wrote the book with respect'

Reading. Widower of Selena shares memories of their life together in new book, To Selena, With Love

The new book To Selena, With Love reveals intimate details about the late Tejano star's life, but the book's author — her widower, Chris Perez — doesn't consider it a "tell-all" kind of book.

"I thought it should be honest, with dignity. I knew there would be things that would make me feel uncomfortable, but I think I wrote the book with respect," Perez, 42, said in a recent interview.

Perez says the book, released Tuesday, allows him to share his memories of Selena Quintanilla, who was shot and killed on March 31, 1995, two weeks shy of her 24th birthday.

Undying love

"When Selena died, I suppressed the memories, I boxed them away in order to cope. When I decided to write the book, I opened the box and put it all out. It was a beautiful process. It was a good thing to revisit and I can't say I fell in love again because I never stopped loving her."

Chris Perez

The Mexican-American singer was a sensation in the Tejano world with hits such as Como la flor, Bidi Bidi Bom Bom and El chico del apartamento 512. She was on the verge of crossing over when she was killed by Yolanda Saldivar, the president of her fan club.

Perez met Selena when he became the lead guitarist for Selena y Los Dinos. It was a band formed by Selena's father, Abraham Quintanilla Jr., and also featured her siblings Suzette and A.B. Quintanilla.

Perez confesses that he feels remorse for not protecting his wife. He wonders if things would have been different had he told someone that Selena told him days before her death that Saldivar had shown her a gun. Perez also addresses rumours, including one that Selena was pregnant at the time of her death (she wasn't).

The first part of the book talks about their secret love. Their romance started behind her father's back, as depicted in the 1997 movie starring Jennifer Lopez, Selena.

Selena's father was opposed to their relationship and accused Perez of being with his daughter only for her money.

Selena's father only accepted Perez after the couple eloped in 1992. Perez describes his father-in-law as an admirable person whom he still loves and respects.

"We had our differences but I love him and respect him like my own father. As a matter of fact, I just went to his studio the other day and I took my kids to see him. We're still a family," he said.

After Selena's death, the guitarist, who lives in San Antonio, struggled to cope with his loss but eventually moved on.

He formed The Chris Perez Band, which won a Grammy in 1999. He also married Venessa Villanueva in 2001 and the couple had two kids, but they divorced a few years later.

"As Selena always told the children she spoke to around the country, 'Nothing is impossible if you work hard.' That includes picking up the pieces of your life," Perez said.

Comic books. DC Entertainment's Vertigo imprint readies 4 new series, dedicated app as it pulls in readers

Vertigo, the decidedly more sophisticated and adult imprint of DC Entertainment, plans to keep its mix of the weird, wild and outright fantastic going in March with four series and a new application that lets readers buy comic books online.

The dedicated app serves as a gateway for the imprint's series of titles that have stretched the boundaries of comic book storytelling with work from Neil Gaiman (Sandman) and Brian Wood (DMZ), along with new titles available digitally the same day they're on sale in comic shops.

The first is Fairest, a new title from Bill Willingham. It's a spinoff from his popular and ongoing Fables series, which focuses on characters from folklore that have been forced to live in New York City among regular humans.

"Fairest itself ... is taking each of these 'fairest in all the land' characters that so heavily populate Fables and giving each one of them a turn to shine on their own and show what they're made of in their own adventures and accomplishments and failings," said Willingham of the title, which is illustrated by Phil Jimenez.

That's part of Vertigo's goal, to proffer stories that are a step, or five, ahead of traditional capes and villains.

Paul Cornell, whose series Saucer Country debuts later this month with art by Ryan Kelly, said it was why he pitched his idea about a New Mexico governor running for president who is abducted by aliens.

"It's X-Files meets The West Wing. It's a political thriller with added aliens," he said this week. "Obviously Vertigo is its ideal home."

Another title is Dominique Laveau: Voodoo Child, written by author Selwyn Seyfu Hinds, which focuses on New Orleans and its mythology.

"I wanted the book and the characters to feel grounded and rooted in the salt of the earth," he said of the title illustrated by Denys Cowan and John Floyd. "We're going to be delving deeper into the grit and grime of the city; the people, the music, the mythology."

Amanda and Josh secretly dating: Us Weekly

Despite claims last month that she's happily single, Amanda Seyfried has reportedly been dating Josh Hartnett since January, according to Us Weekly.

The pair were set up by a mutual friend, sources say, and for now the relationship has been fairly casual.

"Josh likes to keep things low-key, so they've just been hanging out," a source says.

Sienna Miller admits she's expecting, but don't ask for details

Sienna Miller has confirmed to Vogue UK that she's with child.

"I'm in my second trimester, so I'm I-can-talk-about-it pregnant, even though I'm under strict instructions not to say anything," the actress says. "I'm feeling fine. It's all progressing very nicely and it's very exciting."

So why stay mum? Miller — who has been campaigning for privacy rights after being stalked by paparazzi and getting caught up in the News of the World phone-hacking scandal — says she doesn't want to contradict herself.

"[Speaking about my pregnancy] would completely defeat the point of everything I've tried to achieve in the last eight years," she explains.

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

Does Will have a special friend?

Star magazine flames the fire on Will Smith sexuality rumours

THE WORD
Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

Star magazine is throwing their tabloid hands in the air and are just going for it. This week's cover story isn't shocking for what they're writing about, but rather what they're implying.

In a screaming headline that proclaims Will & Jada's Divorce Secret: The Man Who Came Between Them! the magazine goes on to say that Duane Martin, Tisha Campbell-Martin's husband, and Will Smith are just way too close, going on vacations to Miami, Trinidad and Las Vegas together.

A "source" practically outs Smith: "Jada can't stand Will's relationship with Duane. She feels like Will flaunts it in her face, hanging out with him every day and taking him on exotic vacations while she's sitting home alone. Will and Jada's marriage is completely fractured, and it's only getting worse as Will spends more time away with Duane. I don't know how much longer they can live this way. It's only a matter of time until one of them makes the split official and files for divorce."

Of course, there have been whispers about both Will and Jada's sexuality for years, but no magazine has so blatantly gone there.

Unless, of course, I'm just totally reading into this and it's super hetero to go on a myriad of exotic vacations with just your best friend and not your wife?

Just say no to Bullock and Ratner

Sandra Bullock and director Brett Ratner want to make it clear that they are not hooking up, no matter what the tabloids say.

In Touch reported that the pair had been seeing each other for weeks before offering up some public displays of affection at an Oscars party. But Bullock and Ratner beg to differ: "We think that it's incredibly sad that in these times, this magazine would resort to complete fabrication, solely for financial gain," the two say in a joint statement. "There is not a shred of accuracy in their story. We have not seen nor spoken to each for over a decade. We both had a great time after the Oscars, just not with each other." METRO

Ever wanted to see Hulk Hogan naked? Well, now, maybe you can.

The latest celebrity to have to deal with the leak of a purported personal sex tape? Hulk Hogan.

A video allegedly featuring the wrestling veteran and an unidentified woman — though not his ex-wife or his current wife — is reportedly being shopped around to adult film outlets, according to TMZ.

A lawyer for Hogan (whose real name is Terry Bollea) says his client is mortified.

"Terry Bollea is appalled at the unauthorized release of a secretly filmed video," attorney David Houston says.

"He neither approved of the filming nor the release of the same. It is clearly an outrageous invasion of privacy and breach of trust if it is genuine. We will take all necessary steps to enforce both civil and criminal liability."

Guinness Marinated Flank Steak Sandwiches with Grilled Onions and Boursin Cheese

Serve this dish as a meal with boiled potatoes and cabbage. MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Guinness Marinated Flank Steak Sandwiches. This creation uses grilled onions and creamy Boursin cheese

The depth of flavour from the Guinness marinade in this recipe is enhanced by a touch of rich herb and garlic cheese that melts on the hot steak and onions.

Freeze the cheese to make it easier to shave just enough on the top of the grilled steak and onions. This prevents too much cheese from being layered on. Onions are easier to grill without falling apart if you skewer them before cooking. Cut an onion into 1-cm (1/2-inch) thick slices. Thread the centre of each onion with a bamboo skewer that has been soaked in water. Place the onion skewers on the cooking grates and turn once halfway through cooking.

1 Use paper towels to pat steak dry, then set it in a glass or stainless-steel container with a tight cover. Pour Guinness over steak. Set onion slices on top of steak, then cover container and refrigerate for 1 to 2 hours.

2 Heat a gas or charcoal grill to medium. Set cheese in freezer. Remove meat and onions from marinade and pat dry. Brush everything with a thin coat of olive oil, then sear son with salt and pepper. Place steak and onions on cooking grate over direct heat and sear for 6 to 8 minutes. Turn steak and onions and sear on second side for another 6 to 8 minutes. (Alternatively, you also can sear steak and onions on a stovetop grill or grill pan for several minutes per side, then finish cooking in a 180 C/350 F oven set on a rack over a sheet pan.)

3 Transfer steak and onions to a platter. Remove cheese from freezer and use paring knife to shave Boursin on top of steak and onions. Cover with foil and set aside. Brush each slice of bread with oil, then grill them until lightly toasted, 1 to 2 minutes. Thinly slice steak, then assemble sandwiches with bread, steak and onions. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS/ELIZABETH KARMEL, A GRILLING AND SOUTHERN FOODS EXPERT AND EXECUTIVE CHEF AT HILL COUNTRY BARBECUE MARKET RESTAURANTS IN NEW YORK AND WASHINGTON, AS WELL AS HILL COUNTRY CHICKEN IN NEW YORK.

Ingredients

- 1-kg (2-lb) flank steak or London broil, at least 2.5 cm (1 inch) thick
- 1 can (441 ml/14.9 oz) Guinness beer
- 2 large red onions, cut into 1-cm (1/2-inch) thick slices
- 1 small container Boursin cheese
- Olive oil
- Kosher salt and ground black pepper, to taste
- 8 thick slices country bread

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
peterrockwell@eastlink.ca

When I was in university my party favour of choice was tequila. Nobody drank it seriously back then so I would channel my inner Charlie Sheen by bumbling a beer and throwing back a few shots in-between sips of brew.

It sure impressed the ladies. At least I think it did. I can't seem to remember. Either way, I still have an affinity for Mexico's native spirit though today I'm more into how it mixes in cocktails.

I love the margarita because it's so easy make (all you need is tequila, Triple Sec orange liqueur and some lime juice) and it's one cocktail that really allows the booze elements to show through the mix.

A tequila purist would insist on the use of a white style as they typically do south of the boarder. I still prefer a gold tequila's richer flavour in my margs.

Tequila Cazadores Reposado ($34.95 - $39.99) is made with 100 per cent Blue Agave (the plant from which all true tequila is born) and is aged in new barrels (rather than the usual used bourbon casks). This all helps to enhance the spirit's citrusy aroma and up-front vegetal/spice expression. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Territories make curling history

Brier. No team from the North had ever reached the playoffs

Ontario, Alberta and Manitoba advancing to the playoffs at the Canadian men's curling championship was predictable. Yukon and Northwest Territories joining the perennial powers was not.

Jamie Koe's Yellowknife team snared the fourth and final playoff berth with an 8-3 win over B.C.'s Jim Cotter to finish the preliminary round 7-4 on Thursday.

It's the first time since playoff games were introduced to the Brier format in 1980 that a Territories team has made the playoffs. Don Twa's Territories team finished tied for runner-up in 1975 when the event was a round-robin format.

"It's unreal," Koe said. "We're from the North. We don't get to play that much, or we choose not to play that much because it's so expensive, so it's pretty special and we know everyone back home is going nuts right now."

"Once I get to my phone, it's going to be going off all night."

Koe joins older brother and Alberta skip Kevin in the final four and will face him in a Page playoff between the third and fourth seeds Saturday.

"It's guaranteed someone is going to be in the semifinal," Jamie Koe said. "It's my dad's 65th birthday today so what a way to celebrate his birthday, I think."

Ontario's Glenn Howard (10-1) finished first and Manitoba's Rob Fowler second at 8-3. They'll meet in Friday's Page playoff between the top-two seeds (TSN, 5:30).

A direct trip to Sunday's final is on the line. The loser falls to Saturday's semifinal to meet the winner of Koe versus Koe.

Kevin Koe needed a win over Howard on Thursday to finish first, but a 6-3 loss dropped his team to third at 8-3.

Alberta thumped the Territories 11-3 in the preliminary round. They opened the round robin 6-0, but lost three of their last five. Alberta third Pat Simmons is suffering from a respiratory infection and taking antibiotics for it.

Kevin Koe won the Canadian and world championships two years ago. While the Alberta skip understands what his brother's accomplishment means to him and to curling in Yukon and Northwest Territories, he's not willing to let Jamie make more history Saturday.

"I'm happy they're in the playoffs, for sure," Kevin Koe said. "It's huge for everyone back home and curling back home."

"It's a good story and hopefully it ends Saturday. It's time for us to get our killer instinct out. We've got to come out and beat up whoever we're playing. Now that they're in the playoffs, that's a good week for them and it's time to end it."

Marino happy to take Manning's questions

If Peyton Manning wants to talk about playing quarterback for the Miami Dolphins, Dan Marino would be thrilled to take his call.

And just in case, Marino has his sales pitch ready.

"There's great tradition there. We've had a couple off years but believe me, they'll be back," said Marino, the Hall of Famer who threw for 420 touchdowns and more than 61,000 yards in his Dolphins career.

"It's a great franchise and they'll get it turned around."

Manning would almost certainly help in that quest, which largely started when Marino retired more than a decade ago.

From the moment the four-time MVP parted with the Indianapolis Colts on Wednesday, buzz about Manning has been growing in Miami — much of it fueled by the quarterback's arrival in South Florida shortly after becoming an NFL free agent for the first time. Manning insists he doesn't know what his next move will be, and Marino believes him.

"I think he fits with anybody," Marino said Thursday at a charity golf tournament. "He's one of the best to ever play the game at that position. So whenever he ends up playing, if he's healthy, which is going to be important to Peyton, I'm sure he wants to go out there and play at a high level. Wherever he plays, he'll be a huge impact for that team."

The Dolphins are believed to be one of the teams interested in adding Manning; Miami plays a game at Indianapolis next season.

Washington, Arizona, Seattle, Denver and Kansas City also are likely to talk to him, along with the Jets.

Horoscope

♈ Aries | March 21 - April

20. Your head may be full of great ideas but are they practical? That is the question you need to ask.

♉ Taurus | April 21 - May

21. You are where you are for a reason and your primary objective now should be to work out what that reason is. Look around.

♊ Gemini | May 22 - June 20.

You will see or hear something that hands you the opportunity for which you have been waiting.

♋ Cancer | June 21 - July

22. It does not matter how many tasks you have to deal with today, you will breeze through them all without a care in the world.

♌ Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22.

Someone is trying to deceive you and you will catch them red-handed today. Get tough.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22.

Someone is desperate for you to tell them how much you appreciate them. The good news is you will find it easy to open up.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22.

It may look as if you are getting the poor end of a deal, but over the next few weeks you will more than make up for it.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21.

Do something meaningful, something that makes a difference. The possibilities are endless.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22 -

Dec. 21. Some people will be a little bit demanding today and it seems you have little choice but to do as they say.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan

20. This is one of the best times to get out and about and trade opinions with people.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb

18. You will have to make sacrifices over the next two or three days but each and every one of them will be worth it.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20.

The Sun in your sign means there is no better time to find ways to improve yourself. SALLY BROMPTON
